

Dimitrios Angelinas

As CEO of DGROOPS Limited, Dimitri Angelinas strives to achieve online ease on the segment of group bookings, totally rethinking and reshaping the way a SaaS platform should innovate the current bulky process of the group bookings workflow.

Through his passion for Tourism, combined with creative thinking, Dimitri began off with guided tours for Greek Tour Operators and has been working in this field for thriving 25 years.

Wanting to expand his skills and knowledge he educated himself and successfully acquired a Master degree in Tourism Economy from the University of Assisi.

Being a true achiever and always looking for expansion in skills, Dimitri went on to learn 4 languages giving him the opportunity to broaden cooperation. Dimitri organized various kinds of programs and Incentive events in South Europe and Latin America for numerous European Tour Operators, leading to the creation of his own Tour Operator. Angelinas Travel sprouted during the crisis in Greece and has been flourishing since then, successfully developing into one of the lead incoming Tour Operators for Italy.

Being creatively anxious, Dimitri could not but confront and try to find efficient solutions to the problems his and other companies are facing in the industry. Thus, he pioneered an idea and transformed it into a company with a global vision: DGROOPS Limited.

About Dgroops

DGROOPS Limited is a SaaS start up offering a platform for B2B to collaborate in group bookings. It was established by three co-founders, two of them have deep expertise in travel industry (25 and 15 years respectively), and the third co-founder an IT expert, working 25 years in this field. The co-founders are investors of the company, holding 100 percent of equity. The company is currently migrating from the MVP to the commercial version, on boarding the first customers. DGROOPS has a global vision for the future, but now it focuses on the European Travel market.
